Bolshoe Bogdo Mountain

The highest point of Caspian depression.
Located on the territory of the Bogdo-Baskunchak National Park.

Saint Mountain

Mongols and Kalmyks considered Bogdo as sacral place.
Local people believe that Bogdo was sanctified by Dalai Lama.

Talus trail formed by clay and sand (2 - 10 m)

Schistose sandstone of trias age

Clay with interlaying limestone and loose sandstone

Growing Mountain

Bogdo constantly grows due to the salt dome inside the mountain.
It grows 1mm per year.

Astrakhan region

- Bogdo-Baskunchak National Park
- Russian Federation and Kazakhstan Boundaries
- Route M-6 «Caspian»
- Astrakhan - Administrative center

129,6 m Upper Point

Bogdo Mountain is the only one place in Russia where Even-fingered Gecko lives

Palaeontologist Paradise

Bolshoe Bogdo - is the only place where trias sedimentary rocks appears on surface. Palaeontologists found fossils of ancient animal which lived here 250 mln years ago.

Sandstone Monuments

Due to the winds the rocky slopes of South West Bogdo formed monuments of fancy forms.

Caves

Bogdo Mountain has a lot of forms of inner and outer carst relief like caves, grottos, gullies, chasmes, etc.
Baskunchak Cave is the biggest cave on Bogdo (1,5 km long).

Singing Rocks

Shallow caves, stone niches, poles, cornices, numerous hollows made Bogdo a Singing Mountain.
Even the lightest wind makes misterious hum.
It changes depending on wind strength and direction.
